Loading Dice Costs Cheater Six Months

EDMONTON (CP)—James Olaf Anderson was sentenced Tuesday to six months for cheating in a dice game. Magistrate F. W. ## Anthropologist Says:

Teen Weddings Menace Future

NEW YORK (UPI)—Anthropologist Margaret Mead warned yesterday that the growing trend toward teenage marriages could have serious consequences on the future of America.

(It was the second warning in two days. Yesterday the Colonist printed a story that the United Church of Canada might ban such marriages.) Early marriage, she said in an interview, is now more prevalent in the United States than almost any area of the world.

"Early student marriage is domesticating boys so early they don't have a chance for full intellectual development," she said. "I think it's bad for women, too."

She noted that there was a "tremendous" number of broken marriages in the early age group. But parents share a good part of the blame for the trouble, she said.

Reacting to their own uncertainties stemming from wars and depressions, she said, parents in effect tell their children: "Take some enjoyment in life while you can get it. The future is totally uncertain."

Legion Hoots At Merger Of Drives

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A proposal to associate the Canadian Legion's annual poppy campaign with United Appeal charity drives was shouted down Tuesday by delegates to the Legion's 18th biennial convention.

Nova Scotia delegates were angered by the suggestion. The poppy symbolized sacrifice—the red feather symbolized just another campaign, they said.

They were the ones drafted as extras in the Universal International production of "The Great Impostor," film version of the exploits of Ferdinand Demara, who posed as "Dr. Cyr" in the RCN during the Korean War.

BUT all aboard the Jonquiere—which for four days of filming became the Canadian destroyer Cayuga—enjoyed the excitement.

Star of the picture is Tony Curtis, who played Dr. Cyr. He spent hours signing autographs, and obligingly posed for many still and home movie pictures with crewmen.

SWARM ABOARD Jonquiere berthed at the U.S. Navy base in Los Angeles harbor and film crews swarmed aboard. A generator weighing two tons was planted on the quarterdeck.

The first day's shooting was done aboard the ship in harbor. The scene was Dr. Cyr's arrival aboard Cayuga. The next day was spent at sea shooting the crew of a four-inch gun in action and the crew of a Bofors gun taking up stations.

NIGHT SCENES Gun crews from Jonquiere played themselves, as did the crew of a motor cutter and boarding party in other scenes. The final two days of filming were at sea after dark.

One session lasted until 4 a.m. Only officer to get an extra's job was Lieut. R. E. Stone, engineering officer, who was captured by film crews, told to change his uniform and take command of the boarding party during a night scene in which a junk brings wounded Koreans alongside.

LUMP SUM His part was enlarged on the spot to include two lines—both brief commands. All those who played, bit parts were, picked at random. The film company paid a lump sum into the mess fund.

Lt.-Cmdr. Howard Clark, commanding officer of the Jonquiere, praised the co-operation shown by film crews. He said they were keen to have everything as authentic as possible.

Hoover: Keep Death Penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said Tuesday the death penalty is a necessary deterrent to "atrocious crimes" such as murder and treason.

Hoover, writing in the FBI law enforcement bulletin, cited the Rosenberg atom spy case and the case of the youthful plane bomber Jack Graham as examples of crimes which clearly warranted the death penalty.

FEAR GONE "To abolish the death penalty would absolve other Rosenbergs and Grahams from fear of the consequences for committing atrocious crimes," he said.

Hoover urged thought to the question of capital punishment, which "has sent a storm of controversy thundering across our nation." He apparently referred to the furor over the execution of Caryl Chessman.

"A great many of the most vociferous cries for abolition of capital punishment emanate from those areas of our society which have been insulated against the horrors man can and does perpetrate against his fellow beings," Hoover said.

Doukhobor Incident?

Bombers Strike 'Persecuted' Mill

NELSON (CP)—A Kootenay businessman, persecuted by bombers and arsonists in the last 15 years, had another blow Monday.

George Goloff's lumber mill at nearby Brilliant was shaken in a pre-dawn dynamite explosion. The incident wasn't reported until Tuesday.

Damage was not severe.

Mr. Goloff connected the blast with the arrival in the Kootenays of Anna Markova, granddaughter of Peter (the Lordy) Verigin, who led the Doukhobors to Canada from Russia in 1899.

Mrs. Markova arrived in British Columbia from Russia last week to retire to a quiet valley with her son John J. Verigin of Grand Forks.

Mr. Goloff said the latest bombing was a demonstration aimed to coincide with the arrival of Mrs. Markova. He said he knew of no other reason why he should be attacked.

Dynamite blasts in the Kootenays in past years have often been blamed on the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect.

Goloff's mill was closed last year after a long-standing labor dispute. He estimated it would cost $7,500 to replace.

FEARS OF CRASH RISE IN ISLAND AIR SEARCH

Brother Gives Up Hope Of Finding Plane Intact

By TERRY HAMMOND

A plane unreported since last Sunday with two city businessmen aboard is believed to have crashed.

What started early yesterday as a routine check of Island lakes for a Seabee amphibian believed grounded by bad weather changed by afternoon to an intensive, all-out search for signs of tragedy.

PARTNERS

Missing are pilot Cecil Rhodes, 3528 Eastdowne, and his business partner, Cecil Rawlings, 75 Cook, owners of C & C Taxi Ltd.

The two left Patricia Bay Airport on Sunday for a one-day fishing trip intended to take them 70 miles west of Victoria to Nitinat Lake.

TOOK OFF

They were last seen taking off from the lake about 1 p.m. Sunday.

Until about noon yesterday it was thought they had been held down by poor weather conditions which closed in on Sunday.

But improved weather yesterday and a sweep of all likely lakes shortly after daylight, cast a pall of gloom over the search.

BROTHER HELPS

Arthur E. Rhodes, 3510 Richmond, brother of the missing pilot, joined searchers yesterday in a Victoria Flying Services plane piloted by Bill Cove. He said at day's end he had given up hope the Seabee would be found intact.

He believed that when his brother left Nitinat Lake he would have done one of two things if he had not simply returned to Victoria.

LOOK AT BOATS

"He might have gone for a look at the boats in the Swifts race or he would have flown up to see us at Genoa Bay," he told the Colonist last night.

"If he had been heading up to the bay he would have flown up the San Juan Valley. I think he's either in the Strait of Juan de Fuca or in that valley."

FLYING 15 YEARS

He said his brother had been flying at intervals for more than 15 years.

He purchased the Seabee amphibian last fall and had it completely overhauled and partly rebuilt.

The aircraft was equipped with full radio complement and carried a flare signal pistol.

SEVEN PLANES

A total of five RCAF search and rescue planes and two from Victoria Flying Services combed the lower half of Vancouver Island yesterday and the search will continue today.

A search and rescue official said that observers were now looking for evidence of a crash. "If he'd been down on a lake or along the coast we would have spotted him today," he said.

WEATHER GOOD

RCAF searchmaster Flt. Lt. J. E. Errington of Vancouver said weather over the search area yesterday was excellent. He said more search planes would take to the air at daylight today to cover areas not fully checked yesterday.

The aircraft returned from yesterday's search as darkness fell over the island.

LONGTIME RESIDENTS

The two men are both married and both have two children. Mr. Rhodes is the father of a daughter, 22, and a son, 16. Mr. Rawlings has two daughters, 21 and 16.

Both have been longtime residents of Victoria, Mr. Rhodes since 1922.

Peaks, Canyons

Wilderness Forbidding, Frightening

By TED HARRIS

For three hours yesterday I joined air searchers looking for a trace of the Seabee amphibian which took two city businessmen on a fishing trip Sunday and then vanished.

Combing the shores of lakes, the deep river canyons and portions of the forbidding west coast for some signs of the missing plane I saw this Vancouver Island in a new light—a frightening light.

For it is an island of wilderness as well as one of civilization.

It is an island where a soaring peak can reach up into low cloud to pluck an aircraft from the sky, where the stately Douglas firs can hide a man trying to wave for help, where the untruffled waters of dozens of small lakes can hide a tragedy.

Flying with Victoria Flying Services pilot Bill Cove, I combed the San Juan Valley along a course which missing pilot Cecil Rhodes and his business partner Cecil Rawlings might have taken in an attempted return to Victoria or a flight to Cowichan Bay.

We examined an oil slick in Cowichan Bay and we scanned lake and hillside, valley and mountain.

We circled down to 50 feet to examine a silvery object along a lakeshore, only to find it was a sun-bleached log. As you try to sweep every square foot of ground beneath you, your eyes ache and for the first time you realize the difficulty and the uncertainty of an air search—a difficulty compounded by terrain which would conceal the remains of an aircraft perhaps only 10 miles from the centre of downtown Victoria.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

IT'S handy when a mother and daughter are the same size. Then the mother can wear the daughter's cast-off clothes.

That really happens, in some families. More often, the daughter is taller—which is hard on a self-sacrificing mamma, because she doesn't get any of her child's hand-me-downs which have become a little scuffed at the edges.

Mamma has to wear her own old clothes until they fall to pieces.

A mother of this kind is a pathetic sight, walking along like a hen sparrow between two tall, glittering girls in bright plumage.

Sometimes you will find mother going out to work, to pay for her daughter's finery.

"Several women in my office wear their daughter's cast-offs," a lady said. "They've even admitted it. Things have changed. If I had expected to wear new clothes while my mother wore old ones—Wow! What my Dad would have said."

She shuddered at the thought of a stern father's response to the idea. Are there any fathers like that left in the world?

Somewhere at the back of the noble mother's head is the idea of helping her daughter. "I've trapped my husband," she is thinking dimly. "Now I'll help Mary bait the trap. It's her turn."

What mother is doing, however, is sending the girl out into the world as a spoiled brat.

When she does snag a husband, she will keep him poor buying dresses—making do with the year before last's suit herself, while the lady's closet is jammed so full that there isn't room for a moth to squeeze in.

Worst of all, she won't appreciate it. No matter how many clothes he buys her, she will never have enough.

Fountain Circle Flood Stalls 2,000 Phones

Between 1,000 and 2,000 area telephones were out of order much of yesterday, their cables short-circuited by flooding of a manhole at the Fountain Circle caused by watering of the circle lawn.

The manhole, containing 600 pairs of cables, was flooded while "open" for additional cable work. Water soaked through the cable covers to short-circuit the connections to telephones in the North Douglas and Burnside areas.

Service was restored by 4 p.m.

Illegal Fortunes in Moscow

Religious 'Arsenals' Found

MOSCOW (UPI)—The newspaper Evening Moscow reported last night that several illegal privately-owned shops manufacturing icons, crosses and other religious objects have been discovered in Moscow.

The paper said all the underground shops were run for private profit by professional criminals or persons without visible means of support.

One crippled beggar seeking alms outside churches sold crosses and amassed a small fortune, enabling him to buy a chauffeur-driven automobile. Janitress Yevdokia Grigorova, in partnership with painter Valerian Labzin, ran a profitable business in icons and religious tracts. Labzin also operated an underground

Russian Attacks B.C. Methods

Log Waste 'Barbarous'

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C.'s logging methods are "barbarous," says G. M. Orlov, vice-president of the Soviet state planning commission and head of a 10-man Russian pulp and paper party touring several of the province's large pulp and paper mills.

He made the comment Tuesday in an interview and added that Russia is far ahead of Canada both in logging and forestry practices.

Mr. Orlov who wrote a book on Canadian forestry following a visit to Canada in 1956 as USSR minister of forestry, used the term "barbarous" to describe the amount of wood wasted in B.C. logging.

He was particularly critical of the practice of leaving tree tops in the woods. In Russia they are chipped and used by pulp mills.

But the Russian visitor said that Russia is about 25 years behind Canada in pulp and paper making.

Reasons, he said, were that Russia had not been too interested in the field, its mills were not as highly mechanized and Canadian productivity was about 1½ times that of a Russian worker.

He made it clear, however, that his country—with 55 per cent of the world's coniferous forests—intends to expand its forest production and expects to exceed the combined production of Canada and the U.S. in the future.

De Gaulle Speaks

'Better if Nikita Stayed Home'

(From UPI, Reuters)

PARIS—President de Gaulle said Tuesday that Nikita Khrushchev should have stayed home rather than come to Paris to wreck the summit conference over the spy plane incident.

De Gaulle spoke in a major review of the post-summit international scene broadcast to the French nation over radio and television.

CO-OPERATION
He stressed that co-operation between the West and Russia is as essential as ever, despite the summit collapse.

De Gaulle said he was "bound to note" that the spy plane flight was "assuredly and to say the least ill-timed." But it was not a good enough reason for Russia's refusing to discuss world affairs.

De Gaulle said there must be understanding between the whole of Europe—"between the Europe of the Atlantic and the Europe of the Urals."

Blanket of Tough Precautions Cloak Spy Chief's Testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI). — Tight security precautions, reminiscent of a spy-thriller, cloaked yesterday's testimony by Central Intelligence director Allen Dulles at the inquiry into the summit collapse.

About all that was disclosed afterward was that Dulles had refused to say what information the U-2 spy plane was after, when it was shot down.

EVEN TIGHTER

The committee put the CIA chief under a tight security blanket.

The transcript of Dulles' testimony will be made by a firm whose employees have undergone a full government security clearance. But this transcript will not likely be made public at all.

The reporting firm will return Dulles' transcript together with the stenotype tapes and duplicating master sheets. The master sheets and tapes will be burned—probably in the marble fireplace in the committee's office.

Copies of the bound transcript will be numbered and placed in a safe for the use of senators only. Each will carry a "top secret" label and a statement, in red, that "this document contains information affecting the national defence of the United States within the meaning of the espionage laws."

The transmission or the revelation of its contents in any manner to an unauthorized person is prohibited by law.

ELECTRONIC CHECK

Before Dulles testified, the hearing room was "swept" with electronic devices to detect any hidden microphones.

Following disclosure that a replica of the U.S. seal had been bugged in the American ambassador's Moscow residence, Friday's surveillance was a thorough one.

Observers noted that security officers got a ladder and gave a close inspection to the large replica of the U.S. seal which is built into the mahogany wall of the committee's hearing room.

Effect of Quakes

Earth's Surface Lowered 10 Feet

SANTIAGO (UPI). — Two weeks of almost incessant earthquakes have lowered the earth's surface from three to 10 feet over a 25,000-square-mile area in southern Chile, government officials said Tuesday.

The entire coastline of Valdivia province "has been converted into an arm of the sea."

All of the earth mass from Valdivia north to the Pacific Coast island of Chiloe had been lowered at least three feet.

The area of 170 by 100 square miles had a population of 1,500,000.

Rich agricultural fields are under water. Many of the more than 1,000 islands making up the Chiloe peninsula have disappeared.

Actor Stanley Wade Dies Rites in Cathedral Thursday

Funeral services will be held in Christ Church Cathedral at 1 p.m. Thursday for Stanley E. Wade, 64, one of Western Canada's best-known and respected actors, who died here yesterday.

Mr. Wade, born in London, England, had lived here for 11 years. Active in theatrical circles, he appeared in many plays for the Theatre Guild and St. Luke's Players.

He first came to Canada in 1913, served in the Canadian Army during the First World War and was severely gassed at Vimy Ridge.

After the war, Mr. Wade lived for a period in Edmonton where he won the University of Alberta President's cup for his theatrical talents.

Mr. Wade, together with his wife, operated the firm of Lyle's Ladies' Wear, 1441 Douglas, for 11 years.

He is survived by his widow, Vera, at 1462 Rockland; a sister, Mrs. L. E. Booth, Edmonton, a niece, Mrs. Helen Russell of Red Deer, Alta. He also had five sisters in England and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services, arranged by Sands, will be conducted by Rev. Canon T. D. Proctor and Rev. W. J. J. Woods. Interment will be in Hatley Memorial Gardens.

The family has requested that flowers and wreaths not be sent but that donations may be made to the B.C. Society for Crippled Children, 470 Gorge Road, Victoria.

Anti-Combine Change 'Charter of Feudalism'

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's proposed anti-combines amendments Tuesday were branded in the Commons by Opposition Leader Pearson as a "charter of commercial feudalism of 1960."

He said the amendments mean a backward step and a weakening of the existing law. They would hurt consumers, endanger retailers' independence offer more protection to combines and bring back monopolistic practices.

WELCOME MAT

Frank Howard (CCF, Skeena) contended that if the amendments are passed, every big corporation in Canada will put out the welcome mat for Justice Minister Fulton and will contribute to Progressive Conservative party campaign funds.

Leon Crestohl (L. Montreal Cartier) said he is convinced that if the government didn't fear a public outcry, it would repeal the whole Anti-Combines Act. Conservative governments have always tried to amend the act to "water it down, create loopholes and open up avenues of escape," he said.

STILL ILLEGAL

A major target for Mr. Pearson's attack was the proposed amendment to resale price maintenance section of the present Anti-Combine Investigation Act.

Under the proposed amendments this section — enacted under the previous Liberal government in 1951 — would still make it illegal for manufacturers to arrange retail prices for their products.

However, the amendment now would make it possible for a manufacturer to refuse to sell his products to a store that uses the products as loss-leaders — selling goods below cost to attract customers into his store — or to a store which "disparages" the value of the product, uses it for misleading advertising or doesn't provide the service that the consumer could "reasonably expect" from another store.

Mr. Pearson contended this would re-introduce resale price maintenance "through the back door."

The opposition leader also had unkind words for another proposed amendment that would allow industries to co-operate in certain projects — such as pooling of research facilities, and the exchange of price and credit information — without being accused of operating a combine.

"They would be allowed to carry on these joint activities as long as they didn't lessen competition by fixing prices, dividing markets and so on."

Mr. Pearson said it would pose for the courts an entirely new legal test of a combine.

Premier Douglas:

'No Price Tags' Put on Health'

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. (CP) — Once the CCF's proposed medical care plan is in effect "you can go to any doctor, anytime, anywhere; in this province or out of it — you do the deciding," says Premier T. C. Douglas.

He told an election rally of 800 here the CCF has "no price tags on health."

"Health services should be made available to every citizen and under a system where the people pay what they can afford to pay when they are well so they can at least avoid the worry about it when they are sick."

His remarks on the CCF's proposed medical plan were enthusiastically received, but one heckler asked what the CCF would do if it failed to achieve a majority in the June 8 provincial election.

The premier said his party would put the medical care plan through if 51 per cent of the electorate voted in favor of the CCF.

"The medical care plan which we propose will be operated on the same basis as the hospital plan and will cost about the same. We will try to keep the cost down to $35 annually for each family, but it might have to go to $40."

DR. J. ROBERT NELSON
... resigns in anger

Row Over Negro

Dean, Faculty Students Quit

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The divinity school at Vanderbilt University is enmeshed in a growing storm of protest over the university's refusal to re-admit a Negro sitdown leader.

The dean, Dr. J. Robert Nelson, and nine other faculty members resigned in anger Monday. At least 14 of the school's 120 ministerial students have threatened to quit and three students who graduated only two days ago said they would return their degrees.

The nine faculty members and Nelson quit after three months of negotiations with the university administration failed to settle the protests against the dismissal.

Chancellor Harvie Branscomb said he would refer the resignations to the trustees of the university, "who will undoubtedly wish to examine the issues involved."

The protest is in support of former ministerial student James M. Lawson, who was suspended for taking part in demonstrations aimed at desegregating lunch counters.

Nelson told Branscomb his "flat refusal" to re-admit Lawson was "a discrepancy of gross proportion." Branscomb replied Lawson would not be re-admitted because "it would initiate a conflict as long as he is on campus."

Nelson retorted: "You have forbidden the dean and faculty to admit a student who is well known and endorsed by them and he has also been condemned by yourself and the board of trustees who have never met him."

Court Parade

Motorist's Sentence In Doubt

An earlier conviction may change the sentence given by Magistrate A. I. Thomas in city police court yesterday to Roderick Blanshard, 51 Trans-Canada Highway, for impaired driving.

Blanshard was charged after his car hit the door of the Curling Rink, April 23.

He had been convicted and fined when prosecutor T. P. O'Grady said he wished to introduce evidence of a prior conviction for the same offence.

But when defence counsel James Froudford protested that Blanshard had not been warned properly that a greater penalty would be sought, the case was remanded to Saturday.

James McGhee, 569 Michigan, was sentenced to one month in jail on conviction for common assault involving his wife.

Suspended sentence was handed down by Magistrate William Ostler to Clarence Begley, 117 Oswego, on one of two charges of common assault. He was placed under bond of $500 for six months, instructed to join Alcoholics Anonymous and place himself on the interdict list.

On a similar charge he was placed under bond of $500 to keep the peace for six months.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

behind you!

The advantages of having Corvair's Turbo-Air 6 behind you go on and on. Why? Because Corvair's specific design puts extra weight at the rear wheels, giving you far better traction for quicker starts and sure stops in all weather. The ride is always smooth and steady — handling is more precise. And, of course, in Corvair you leave engine noise and heat behind you. You get the special advantages of air-cooling — no more anti-freeze or radiator expense — plus a virtually flat floor for greater passenger comfort. And Corvair's six horizontally opposed cylinders give a "pancake" design for matchless smoothness and efficiency. The Turbo-Air 6 is one of the big reasons why Motor Trend magazine enthusiastically acclaimed Corvair "Car of the Year".

Did Breakup Surprise K?

May Not Have Expected Western Impatience

The following article is the second of four on the collapse of summit negotiations and the background reasons.

By ISAAC DEUTSCHER

When on the eve of his departure for Paris Khrushchev faced the praesidium he found himself in a situation which may have been almost as difficult as that of June 1950, when a Molotov-led praesidium was on the point of deposing him.

Probably there was no threat of deposition this time, but the praesidium had more than enough of the Khrushchevite Camp David spirit and of all that went with it.

The praesidium was certainly in constant session before and after Khrushchev's departure, and it may have reversed the earlier decision at the last minute. This would explain in part the suddenness of Khrushchev's somersault in Paris.

Yet, there remain quite a few obscure points in the summit story, which historians will probe. For instance: was it really Khrushchev's deliberate purpose to break up the summit before it had begun, or did he merely manoeuvre himself into a position in which he had to take the odium of the break?

Surprised?

There are reasons to think that Khrushchev was surprised when the three Western heads of state announced, on the evening of Tuesday, May 17, that there would be no summit conference.

By that time President Eisenhower had already made public the statement that the U.S. flights over the U.S.S.R. were "suspended," and it may have looked to Khrushchev that in another informal meeting the ground could, after all, be prepared for the opening of the summit.

By now, however, the Western Big Three no longer wanted any informal talks—it was to be either the summit or nothing. Up to the last minute Khrushchev behaved as if he did not quite know what to do, and it was the Western heads of state that resolved the dilemma for him. Both sides evidently felt that after all that had happened there was no chance of any agreement on the vital issues that figured on the summit agenda.

Belittled

This became especially clear after Khrushchev had called off Eisenhower's visit to the Soviet Union. This decision again reflected Khrushchev's resentment not only at the president's handling of the U-2 affair, but also at his handling of the proposed visit. When Khrushchev journeyed to the United States last autumn, he did his best to play up his own visit, to give it quite exceptional importance, and to present it as an epoch-making event. Eisenhower did his utmost—so it certainly appeared to Khrushchev—to belittle the importance of his return visit. If Khrushchev had contented himself with the mere announcement of the spy plane suspension, his position in Moscow and within the Soviet bloc might have been gravely weakened.

No Rivals

Just how precarious is—or was—his position? He has certainly had his critics in the party hierarchy in Moscow, but he has no effective rival in the praesidium.

Nor does the indubitable discontent in the military officers' corps, provoked by the reduction of the conventional forces, constitute a great threat to him.

Since the demotion of Marshal Zhukov, the influence of the officers' corps has shrunk, and the rather colorless and docile Malinovsky is the last person to act as Khrushchev's political mentor.

However, discontent in the conventional forces may be used against Khrushchev by his critics in the praesidium or in the central committee. And although he has no effective rival, and the return of Molotov or Malenkov is unlikely, he is not the autocrat that Stalin was.

Complex Game

He plays, however, a fairly complex game. He gives way to his critics, and then, having subdued their pressure, he seeks once again to pursue his policy. This is what he has done several times in the past few years and what he also did when on his way from Paris he stopped in Berlin to tell Ulbricht and company that there must be no foolhardy or rash adventures in Berlin in the next few months.

More Salk Shots Set

Two More Polio Victims in Hospital

Two new cases of polio, the year's sixth and seventh, are in "satisfactory condition" in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

At the same time, adults were given a schedule for the second in a series of polio shots at city clinics.

One of the new cases is a Victorian, Mrs. Olive Wilson of 3161 Orillia. The other is six-year-old Dennis Frykas of Port Alberni.

Both patients were brought to the hospital during the weekend, and neither is confined to a respirator.

Second doses of Salk anti-polio vaccine for Victoria and Esquimalt adults who had first doses in May will be given at four clinics in the next two weeks.

The second doses will be given, the health department announced yesterday, at the Esquimalt municipal hall June 3 from 1.30 to 3.30 p.m., at 1947 Cook June 8 from 1 to 7, at Fairfield United Church June 10 from 1.30 to 3.30 and in the Royal Jubilee Hospital lecture room June 14 from 1.30 to 3.30.

Cougar Seen at Colwood
But Dogs Find No Trace

The second cougar sighting in less than a week near Victoria has been reported to Colwood RCMP.

Three unidentified men claimed they saw a cougar leave Goldstream Avenue and disappear into the darkness at Royal Colwood golf course.

RCMP, the game warden and veteran cougar hunter Jim. Paton with his two cougar hounds combed the golf course within half an hour of the sighting but were unable to pick up any trace of a cat.

A cougar was seen nearby Friday in the Thetis Lake area, but it did not attack any livestock.

Double Last Year's

City Building Strong in May

Contrary to the general trend, Victoria city in May had one of the most encouraging building months in recent years.

Permits were issued by the city planning and inspection division for construction valued at $1,375,622, nearly double the May, 1959, figure of $747,935.

Permit value for the first five months of 1960 was $4,035,916, also an increase from last year's $3,305,917.

HOUSING DOWN

But a reduction in housing starts—down 40 per cent across Canada—was reflected in Victoria, assistant city engineer Roderick Clark noted.

Permits for five houses were issued in May, bringing new home starts in 1960 to 29 and a value of $334,000. Sixteen homes were started in May, 1959, bringing the totals at that time to 79 homes valued at $995,880.

MAJOR JOBS

Major projects started in May in the city were the Eaton's carpark valued at $465,000 and three apartment buildings with a total value of $380,000.

Pace of building picked up in Saanich and Esquimalt during May but still lagged far behind last year's pace—a lag attributed by municipal officials to "tight money."

Saanich issued 84 permits in May for construction valued at $534,172, compared with 93 permits and $657,587 in May of last year.

40 DWELLINGS

Forty of the permits this May were for dwellings, valued at $490,500, as against 52 last May with a value of $620,000.

Totals for the first five months of this year were 342 permits and $2,956,520, including 165 dwellings. In the first five months of last year the totals were 497 permits and $3,867,714, including 301 dwellings.

In Esquimalt, 16 permits were issued in May for a total construction value of $88,300, compared with 28 permits in May of 1959 for a total value of $199,350.

Four dwellings, for $58,000, were included in this May's permits; 13, for a value of $189,180, in last May's.

Five-month totals this year were 68 permits and $392,850; last year, 103 permits and $766,890.

Rhododendrons, Azaleas
'A Remarkable Show'

First planting of 1,000 rhododendrons and azaleas in Playfair Park Arboretum is in bloom and is "a remarkable show," Catherine Skinner, president of Victoria Arboretum Society, said last night.

Second stage in a five-year program will take place later this year when a further 1,000 blooms are planted, Mrs. Skinner said.

"Playfair Park can be easily reached by driving along Quadra Street and turning down Rock Street," she said. "Buses also stop at Rock and Quadra."

Cheaper?

Lighting
Tenders Sought

To see if money could be saved, city council public works committee will call for tenders from electrical contractors on maintenance and operation of Victoria's street-lighting.

And separately, the committee decided yesterday, bids will be sought on cleaning of the cluster-light globes, a job now performed by city electricians.

COSTLY WIPERS

"Why it has to be highly-paid electricians who clean the bulbs I don't know," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgell, but City Manager C. C. Wyatt noted that it was a way of keeping electricians busy in slack periods.

In other action, the committee:

● Authorized use of signs with a large "P" and arrow to direct traffic to city parking lot entrances, but decided to seek the opinion of the retail merchants' group of the chamber of commerce on using the signs for privately-owned parking lots with more than 100 spaces. Purpose of the signs is to prevent traffic snarls.

● Accepted the only paving bid received, which to the aldermen's expressed amazement—was five cents a ton lower than last year's.

● Was informed by City Engineer James Garnett that plans for Fountain Circle—requested by an oil company so that it can prepare to rebuild a station there—"are all tied up with the one-way street plan we are working on, and as soon as we have something we feel is as foolproof as possible, we will come to the committee with it."

Phone Staffs
To Get
Pay Boosts

A three-stage, two-year wage agreement was reached yesterday between the B.C. Telephone Co. and its 6,000 employees in the province.

The agreement with the Federation of Telephone Workers of B.C., a company spokesman said, provides for a three-per-cent increase retroactive to April 1, a three-per-cent increase effective Dec. 1, 1960, and a two-per-cent increase effective Aug. 1, 1961.

Dock Worker
Injures Leg

Roy Hutchinson, 42, of 1570 Mortimer, stevedore employed by Empire Stevedore Co. at Ogden Point docks, received abrasions to the right leg about 1.45 p.m. yesterday when struck by a hatch beam while unloading a Greek freighter. City police took him to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was treated and discharged.

Supervised Parks

Oak Bay Lessons

Ceramics, Tennis

A variety of instructions ranging from ceramics to tennis will be available this summer to children attending Oak Bay's five supervised parks.

Registration of children from five to 12 years old, at a cost of $2 per family, will be held in Willows School auditorium from 2 to 4 p.m. June 15 for Carnarvon, Fireman's and Willow Parks, and in Monterey School auditorium June 14 for Windsor and Lafayette Parks. Supervised morning activities in these parks will run from July 4 to Aug. 5.

Swimming instruction will be offered as well, and swimmers and non-swimmers from seven to 12 who are registered at Oak Bay playgrounds will receive twice-weekly instruction at the Crystal Garden.

Two Victoria residents have so far donated a total of $40, and others have pledged more. Cheques should be made out to the "Canadian Red Cross quakes in Chile during the past few weeks.

Chilean Disaster Fund" and sent to the Victoria headquarters, 1046 Fort.

Clothes are not wanted, as the society here does not have the facilities to pack and dispatch apparel.

Dullest Since 1915

Cold Comfort:
Our Weather
Wasn't Worst

Tourist officials will be happy to learn that, as usual, Victoria had better weather than Vancouver during the past month.

But neither city really has anything to boast about this time. Vancouver had the driest May on record while Victoria's May was only the second dullest on record.

The dullest May here was in 1915, when there were only 180.5 hours of sunshine. This year, there were 203.4 hours; the normal, set by 46 years of records, is 275.1 hours.

Prospects of a sunny year were shattered. The area was 28 hours ahead of normal yearly sunshine total at the first of May and 68.9 hours behind normal by the end of the month. Total sunshine for the year is now 733.9 hours.

May was also wetter than in past years. During 16 days of recorded rainfall there were 1.26 inches. Normally there are nine days in which .93 inch is recorded. Total for the year is 12.46 inches, 1.03 inches more than normal.

Highest temperature of the month was 71.2 on May 9 and lowest was 42.4 on May 21. Average temperature was 52.5, as compared to a normal of 53.8.

Solarium Needs Volunteers

The Solarium Junior League is seeking volunteer canvassers for its one-night residential canvass starting at 6.30 p.m. today. Some 1,500 have already volunteered to help cover the Greater Victoria area in the league's annual appeal for funds to meet daily maintenance costs of the solarium.

Anyone wishing to help, or those missed by canvassers this evening, may call the Solarium office, XV-48601.

VIP Trip to Victoria

Ferry Run's Kickoff

Victoria will be host to 100 selected magazine writers, newspapermen and travel counsellors from all parts of North America next week as a special kickoff to the start of the provincial government's new Vancouver Island-mainland ferry service.

A detailed program has been drawn up by the B.C. Toll Authority ferry system to show the important visitors the scenic highlights of Vancouver and Victoria as well as the new ferries.

The visitors will gather in Vancouver June 8, spend the day in the mainland city as guests of hotel, motel and tourist officials, and journey to Sidney the next morning aboard Mv. Tsawwassen.

While in Victoria they will be guests of Victoria local, Auto Courts and Resorts Association.

Program here includes a buffet luncheon at the Empress Hotel, staged by the city of Victoria; a tour of the city by bus, a reception by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and a provincial government-sponsored dinner at the Empress Hotel that night.

Next day, June 10, guests will visit Butchart Gardens before leaving aboard the Tsawwassen back to the mainland.

Ferries will begin their regular service June 15.

Rivette Tries Strait Again

Never-say-die Doug Rivette will make yet another attempt to swim the 18.3-mile Juan de Fuca Strait midway through this month.

He said yesterday he would leave from Holland Point at 4 a.m. June 14, weather permitting. His attempt is being sponsored by Gordie Gordienko.

"It will be one of the best swim trips I've put on," Rivette said yesterday. "I'm confident I'll make it first try."

Travellers End Convention Here

George Lineker of Vancouver was elected grand councillor at the United Commercial Travellers' 62nd annual convention in Victoria yesterday.

Among others elected at the final session of the three-day meeting was William Bayliss, Victoria, grand past councillor.

Pipers from Far and Wide To Gather Here Saturday

Scottish pipers from all parts of Vancouver Island, the mainland, Seattle and Oregon will skirt and whirl when the annual banquet of the Vancouver Island Pipers' Society is staged at the Monterey Restaurant at 6.30 p.m. Saturday.

Pipers young and old will show their skill, the Canadian Scottish Pipe Band will attend, and there will be an exhibition of Highland dancing.

Guests will include Lt.-Col. Peter Ramsay, commanding officer of the Canadian Scottish; Rev. A. I. Avery, and C. I. Walker, president of the B.C. Pipers' Association.

Woman Breaks Hip In Fall at Langford

Mrs. Rebecca Sawyer, about 74, of 1160 Quarantine Road, taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital last night by Langford ambulance after breaking a hip in a fall in her home, was later reported in satisfactory condition.

Pipeline Delay Irks Central Saanich

The federal government's long delay in settling the Elk Lake-Patricia Bay water pipeline purchase is causing Central Saanich residents to wonder.

"They led us to believe they wanted out of the water business," Reeve H. Rupert Brown said last night. "The government's conduct in this matter is distressing."

He said Ottawa previously offered the wartime pipeline to the Greater Victoria Water Board and Saanich with a $1 price tag before Central Saanich offered to take it off their hands.

Reeve Brown added that latest reports from government officials said the matter was in the hands of the treasury board at Ottawa. Council was assured an answer in 10 days, "that was two weeks ago," he said.

Last month council offered to send a delegation to Ottawa to try to speed up negotiations. They were told by Transport Minister Hees such a step would not be necessary.

Negotiations with the government had been going on for some time before the people of Central Saanich passed a water bylaw last Dec. 17, authorizing purchase of the line and building of an $83,000 reservoir.

This was to be the first step in obtaining a piped water supply for the municipality. At present residents have to depend on wells for their water supply.

Victorians' Son Wins Scholarship to Italy

Son of a Victoria couple is one of two B.C. students granted an eight-month, expense-paid scholarship in Italy by the Italian government.

He is Robert S. Thomson, 20, of 458 Monterey Avenue, Oak Bay. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Thomson.

Robert, who has just completed his second year of studies at the University of British Columbia, is at present working on a construction job in Vancouver.

The scholarship will permit Robert to further his study of languages. It will provide transportation to and from Italy, university fees and $100 a month. He is due to leave in November but can go earlier if he desires.

His mother said last night that Robert hopes to become a language professor.

Total of six scholarships were awarded to Canadian students. Another Vancouver student, Flaminio Ragona, was among the winners, with the others in Ontario and Quebec.

Double Last Year's

City Building Strong in May

Contrary to the general trend, Victoria city in May had one of the most encouraging building months in recent years.

Permits were issued by the city planning and inspection division for construction valued at $1,375,622, nearly double the May, 1959, figure of $747,935.

Permit value for the first five months of 1960 was $4,035,916, also an increase from last year's $3,305,917.

HOUSING DOWN

But a reduction in housing starts—down 40 per cent across Canada—was reflected in Victoria, assistant city engineer Roderick Clark noted.

Permits for five houses were issued in May, bringing new home starts in 1960 to 29 and a value of $334,000. Sixteen homes were started in May, 1959, bringing the totals at that time to 79 homes valued at $995,880.

MAJOR JOBS

Major projects started in May in the city were the Eaton's carpark valued at $465,000 and three apartment buildings with a total value of $380,000.

Pace of building picked up in Saanich and Esquimalt during May but still lagged far behind last year's pace—a lag attributed by municipal officials to "tight money."

Saanich issued 84 permits in May for construction valued at $534,172, compared with 93 permits and $657,587 in May of last year.

40 DWELLINGS

Forty of the permits this May were for dwellings, valued at $490,500, as against 52 last May with a value of $620,000.

Totals for the first five months of this year were 342 permits and $2,956,520, including 165 dwellings. In the first five months of last year the totals were 497 permits and $3,867,714, including 301 dwellings.

In Esquimalt, 16 permits were issued in May for a total construction value of $88,300, compared with 28 permits in May of 1959 for a total value of $199,350.

Four dwellings, for $58,000, were included in this May's permits; 13, for a value of $189,180, in last May's.

Five-month totals this year were 68 permits and $392,850; last year, 103 permits and $766,890.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to Gladys whose husband was a sport car nut was for the birds. You told her to "count her blessings." You said she should be happy her competition is a 4-wheeled hunk of steel and not a two-legged blonde.

It's obvious that YOUR husband is no sport car lunatic. Mine is — so please listen to someone who knows what it's all about.

I wish to heaven my husband were interested in another woman instead of cars. I'd know how to fight that kind of competition. If the other woman is attractive, you can concentrate on your looks and trim down your figure. If she's affectionate you can fight this kind of fire with fire. But how do you compete with a Jaguar or an MG? I'm 31 years old, Ann. I don't need a re-tread and I'm not out of gas just yet. But every spare minute finds him in the garage with the cars. No conversation. No church together. No visiting friends or family. Just grease on the rugs, grease in the sink and gasoline on the lawn. — I KNOW.

Dear I Know: Thanks for your letter. Now we all know how it looks from the other side of the dash board.

Floors Are to Walk On

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have both worked hard and long to have a lovely home — all paid for. We recently put down beautiful in-laid linoleum in the vestibule, corridors and family room.

Last week we had guests in and the metal lifts on the women's heels have just about ruined our in-laid floors.

I cried when I saw the hundreds of little nicks all over. I phoned the floor-covering firm that sold us the linoleum and they said they could do nothing but recommend a heavy wax. The nicks cannot be removed. The floor is ruined. Do you think it would be all right to ask the women guests to remove their shoes when they enter our home? — H.A.

Dear H.A.: Not unless you're having a Japanese costume party.

Floors are to walk on. You can't ask guests to remove their shoes because you're concerned about the linoleum.

You should have investigated the durability of the material before you made the investment. Some people are willing to sacrifice practicality for beauty's sake. (Example: White carpeting in Chicago.) A heavy coating of wax will help cover the nicks and protect the floor somewhat against future scarring.

Best Friend Stole Him

Dear Ann Landers: I had a very wonderful boy friend and we had a grand steady-relationship all through our sophomore year in high school. My dream situation turned into a horrible nightmare when the girl I considered my best friend stole him away under my very nose.

Now they're together all the time and he doesn't even know I exist. When I see them holding hands in the halls I get so mad I want to go over and pull her pony tail right out of her head.

I know it's wrong to hate anybody so much, but I can't help it. How can I calm myself down? — FRENZIED FAYE.

Dear Frenzied: Tell yourself that hatred is an acid that does far more damage to the container in which it is stored than anything on which it is poured. Your violent feelings are not hurting her. They're hurting you.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love or Sex?" enclosing your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

WHAT'S COOKING

By LOUISE MOORE

Can you think of anything more enjoyable than preparing for an afternoon tea party?

This time, make a special fuss over those tea sandwiches — a little different — eye catching.

No matter what the occasion the first thing to decide is the number of guests and the kind of sandwiches to serve. So here are a few facts helpful when you go shopping for the makings.

One small sandwich loaf (1½ pounds) cut into slightly less than ½-inch thick slices will make 60-80 small sandwiches which should serve 12 to 13; ¼ lb. butter is sufficient to spread this loaf and when it comes to fillings 1½ lbs. or about 2½ cups moist meat spread is sufficient for 1 loaf of bread — as is a dozen hard cooked eggs chopped, mixed with onion, mayonnaise and seasonings.

MAKING SANDWICHES

A good sharp bread knife is essential to cut bread neatly. Then be sure bread is at least 24 hours old and of a fine texture. The sandwich loaf usually is of fine texture and economical to use.

There is a marvelous variety of dainty tea sandwiches — double, open-faced, cube, rolled, ribbon, checkerboard, pinwheel and so on.

Pinwheels are not only pretty but practical for with different breads and fillings one can achieve a whole platter of eye-catching sandwiches. Gherkins or stuffed olives or red and green cherries make attractive centres for these pinwheels and colored cheese adds to the picture-pretty platter.

For the filling you might try combining one 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, 2 tbs. chopped maraschino cherries the trimmed crusts from two lengthwise thin slices of bread, spread with softened butter then the cheese mixture. Cut each slice in half crosswise, place a row of cherries, gherkins or stuffed olives across top end of each half slice of bread pressing them firmly together end to end and roll up jelly roll fashion starting at cherry or pickle end.

Wrap each roll in waxed paper twisting ends to hold firmly. Place on flat surface so rolls rest on seam side of bread and chill. To serve, unwrap and cut each roll into 6 slices. Yield 24 cherry, olive or pickle pinwheels.

TIPS FOR PARENTS

By EDITH HENRY

In this column you will occasionally read of "studies" that have been made into the behavior of children.

The Drs. Glueck have kept track of a special group of youngsters over a period of ten years. You will find Delinquents in The Making (Harper Bros.) interesting reading.

EVEN AT SEVEN

The book tells among other things that while boys may not reach the courts until the age of 12 years, they have already "personality bruises and character twists" as early as the seventh year.

One can see in them hostility, defiance, resentfulness, or non-submissiveness, over a period of time.

Please note the emphasis. If your Tommy is in an acute fighting mood today, he is not necessarily headed for delinquency.

It is the chronic attitude which is worrying. If you are a reader with a logical mind, it is not hard to draw the conclusion that it is within the early years that children should be watched and given help.

At this stage, treatment requires less time and less money.

SPORADIC NATURE

In Canada there is some provision made for dealing with early symptoms, but is of too sporadic a nature, as yet.

One plan has been to bring selected teachers from across the country back to the university for one year's further study in child behaviour and mental health.

Says Stylist

'No Ugly Women'

TORONTO (CP) — North American women could learn a thing or two about hair styling from their sisters in Paris and London, says Monsieur Norbert.

M. Norbert, who lists the Duchess of Windsor among his clients, was in Toronto as a stylist of film stars, they may not suit you.

Expounding his theories on hair, he says that when he chooses a style he considers his customer's size and general figure, how old she looks — "though I don't ask for her passport" — her social position and facial bone structure.

"There are no ugly women on earth. Only women who do not know themselves."

For example, women who were no longer youthful in appearance should wear short hair.

M. Norbert says he deplores the habit of American hairdressers in asking women how they want their hair done. The women had given the hairdressers an inferiority complex.

"They try to impose their

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

The eighteen players in this year's Intercollegiate Championship included 10 pairs for each North-South and East-West pairs. (Some hands have been dealt—par opportunity.) But the East-West pairs seemed rather more difficult to this department, and it is not surprising that a 9 out of 10 score won the event.

Smith, Jr. and Richard L. Stanton of North Carolina State, West's hand affords a slight problem, but when the choice is close between a conservative and an aggressive first bid, it's better to be conservative. Remember, though West's hand includes 11 points in high cards, its value should be reduced a point on account of the 4-3-3 distribution.

The pitfall opens for East on the very first trick. A winning spade finesse will make matters easy, but a losing spade finesse exposes him to immediate disaster if North shifts to a club and South holds the ace. Declarer must play to keep North off lead.

He can do so by winning the spade ace, cashing his top diamonds, and crossing to dummy's eight of trumps. Next he leads the diamond ten and, when North plays low, he discards his spade loser. South's obvious play is to continue diamonds to let declarer's discard, but this doesn't upset declarer's plan. He overruns North, crosses to the heart jack, and leads the spade queen. Thus he is sure to establish a second spade king in his game-going trick without ever risking that North gets in for the fatal club shift. If North covers the spade, West still has a high trump as the essential entry to let East-West make game and win their pair.

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

With most of the vegetables and annual flowers now nicely under way, it is time to think about getting in some seeds of biennials and perennials to bloom next year and the years to come. In particular, wallflower seeds should go in now to make sturdy plants for planting out in the front beds this fall.

Any spare corner of the backyard will do for these, but DO leave room somewhere in the vegetable plot for growing of the young plants when they get too big for the seed bed. Sowing wallflower seed in a frame or an open seed bed and just leaving them there is a sheer waste of time and seed; they MUST be transplanted, partly so they can be spaced out properly and given room to develop into stocky, sturdy plants, and partly because the transplanting in itself serves to develop a good branching root system rather than a long taproot.

If the front beds where the wallflowers will spend the winter are cold and exposed, better stick to the single kinds, but where a little protection is afforded, some of the double-flowered varieties may be tried, such as Cheiri Double and Early Wonder.

These two strains come true from seed, but many of the older double varieties must be propagated from cuttings; the same applies to certain varieties of the Siberian wallflower. The orange-flowered Siberians come true, and they make a grand splash of vivid color in the garden, but an awkward situation arises when these are grown. English wallflowers are finished at just the right time to be ripped out and replaced by the summer-flowering annuals, like snaps or petunias, but the Siberians bloom too late and too long. If you grow these vivid plants, better keep them to themselves.

A pleasant change from the usual red and yellow wallflowers would be Carmine King, Rose Queen, Ivory White, Primrose Monarch, Orange Bedder and Ruby Gem. There is also a very dwarf Tom Thumb strain, available in ruby red and golden yellow, useful for edging the beds of the taller kinds and in the rock garden.

Don't forget that wallflowers are closely related to the common cabbage and can get the same Club Root disease. Better give both the seed bed and the nurser, row a good dressing of lime and a touch of Lawn & Soil Fungicide as insurance against this devastating root infection.

Among other biennial seeds that can go in now are the Canterbury Bells, a delightful old-fashioned flower. While these are available in double-flowered form, I very much prefer the old cup-and-saucer kinds, especially in the rose and white shades.

With Canterbury Bells, it doesn't seem to be generally known that if you pick off the individual florets as they fade, more blooms will appear on the same stem, and each spike can be kept in flower for quite a long time in this way.

If you have a shady spot in your garden big enough for a few tallish flowers, by all means get in some seeds of foxglove. These are, I think, my favorite biennials, and raising them from seed is an especially thrilling business, for you never know just what intriguing color combinations will turn up in these spotted lovelies.

The best strains are the Excelsior Hybrids, with flowers all around the stem instead of all facing one way; the Gloxinia-flowered foxglove, with the largest florets of all, and the Shirley Strain, raised by the late Rev. Wilks, who gave the world the Shirley poppies.

She's the Voice of the Turtle

Some of the greatest acting on television these days comes out of the mouths of these little cartoon characters that romp through the commercials. I can remember way back when commercials were silent. The beer cans marched but they didn't talk. But that was long ago. Now, the cigarette talk, sneer, have their own inner reality and sometimes do The Method.

Zel deCyr, a nice-looking young lady, who makes a good living being the voice of Kiwi shoe polish, the Dutch Boy, and about a million other voices, projects herself into the part just as if she were playing Camille. "If I'm playing a rose—usually a cartoon rose—I try to think what would a rose be like, what's the purpose of what the rose is saying. I feel the more you're involved, the more you communicate."

Don't think Miss deCyr hasn't played a rose either, because she has. Her yellow rose—an advertisement for the Yellow Pages of the telephone book—set the yokels on their ear in Sheboygan. Since actresses these days start out playing trees in all the acting schools, this sort of work is duck soup.

"I got my first commercial job when I was studying with Sandy Meisner. We did a lot of work on basic reality in his acting class so when I found out the commercial I was trying out for concerned selling a Frigidaire, it was easy. My mother had been after my father for years to get her a new one. I did the commercial just as if I were talking to my father. That was six years ago and I've done thousands since."

There is enormous competition for these roles. For one commercial, the interests were looking for a crumpled up seven-year-old girl and Miss deCyr found herself up to her ears in seven-year-old children of both sexes, sneezing and coughing their heads off.

"A cartoon sneeze doesn't have to be as authentic as a film sneeze. A cartoon sneeze is more stylized. A cough is difficult to stylize. It's got to be real. I've done sneezes for Scotty tissue and they are highly stylized. There are real sneezes, stylized sneezes, sneezes of adults, boys, girls, uninhibited sneezes, free sneezes. That's what I mean by acting."

"Suppose I'm doing the voice of a crawling turtle. I've never heard a turtle talk but it's a creepy thing so I may do a slow, creepy voice like the voice of Zasu Pitts."

"Kids love commercials and I think the old folks do, too. I like to think of all the people in old folks' homes with nothing but their television sets. Along comes the commercial and it's optimistic and bouncy. It cheers them up."

"It's a pretty nice life for the performer. It's a nice living and we're treated like human beings."

Liz Loyal All the Way

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Elizabeth Taylor goes all the way in loyalty to her husbands. Helping the late Mike Todd, she worked herself into a breakdown publicizing his "Around the World in 80 Days." Now I learn that the songs and music from her current "Butterfield 8" will be recorded under the Ramrod label, the company owned by present husband Eddie Fisher. And if there is music in her next movie, "Cleopatra," it will be Ramrod, too.

Edd "Kookie" Byrnes signed for the Pat Boone show June 27, the last of the season—and for the show, I understand.

Elvis Presley has two girls in a whirl—Leticia Roman, daughter of Dr. Novarese, the costume and custom expert on "Spartacus," and Sigrid Maler, German actress.

Karl Malden, who worked with buddy Marlon Brando for nearly a year in "One-Eyed Jacks," predicts the film will earn another Oscar or two for Marlon—for direction and acting.

In the plotting stage is "Diamond Bikini," a sparkling comedy for Dean Martin and Shirley MacLaine.

Hollywood is paying Signe Hasso—the result of her truly fine acting as "Mary Stuart" in the play of the week with Eva Gabor fighting every inch of the way to hold her own with Signe.

Martha Hyer put the $40,000 she collected recently for breach of contract from Arthur Brauner into a new payment on a Picasso painting. Martha buys her masterpieces on the hire-purchase plan. By the time she finishes paying, the picture is worth double. This blonde has brains!

From Cantinflas, the Mexican star, on the subject of "Pepe," his picture for Columbia: "It will cost 50,000,000 by the time it is finished in August." Fifty million pesos, that is—but it still adds up to a tidy $5,000,000. The George Sidney production has a star-spangled cast—all the way from Durango to Debbie, and Frankie Boy to Chevalier.

From Dan Dailey, "I'll have the grandest group of Irish players you've ever seen"—in Dublin, for his picture there this summer, "St. Michael's Battalion."

Who is the richest of today's movie and TV stars? Hard to say, but Bob Hope is near the top. He was in San Francisco recently completing a huge real-estate deal. Bob owns oil wells, ranches, radio and TV stations, shopping centres and bowling alleys. If he keeps this up he will be a rich as "House Party" Art Linkletter.

Yves Montand, Frankie Vaughan, Tony Randall and Wilfred Hyde-White have formed the Seven-Months Club—seven months in Hollywood for their "Let's Make Love" movie with Marilyn Monroe. The original schedule was 12 weeks.

Phil Silvers has found a house on the ocean side of Long Island where he will spend the summer with his wife and two small children. "As a bachelor," says Phil, "I didn't have these problems."

Fred Astaire, Debbie Reynolds, Lilli Palmer, and the rest of the cast of the postponed Perleberg-Sexton production, "The Pleasure of His Company," have been insured for $1,000,000 to cover their return to the picture in November. The movie, half finished, was suspended because of the film actors' strike. Now, unless there is a last-minute settlement, the stage actors will be on strike.

Jazz Fans' Riot Halted By London Police Dogs

LONDON (UPI)—London bobbies used snarling police dogs to scare 2,500 rioting jazz fans into order at an East London park.

The dogs, growling and tugging at their leashes, routed teenage ruffians who for 90 minutes had been belting law officers with fists, chairs and bottles.

Nineteen persons were eventually rounded up in a darkness-shrouded park and taken into custody. Seven policemen suffered cuts and bruises.

Astronomers Hail Super-Eye

Sea-crusted but still deadly is high-explosive bomb gingerly displayed by navy diving expert Lt. Cmdr. Ben Ackerman. Finger is touching firing pin. In foreground is smoke bomb, also salvaged from deep.—(Robin Clarke photo.)

A Dominion Astrophysical Observatory official here yesterday "hailed with great joy" an announcement regarding the development of a new super-eye which promises to extend man's vision billions of miles into space.

"All astronomers have been looking forward to a development of this kind for some time," said observatory director Dr. R. M. Petrie. "Ultimately it will be of great help to us here."

MAGNIFIES LIGHT

The super-eye, which can be attached to telescopes, is an electronic tube which magnifies light to a fantastic degree. A faint image invisible to the human eye can be magnified 20,000-fold or more in brightness.

It literally makes it possible to see in the dark. Soldiers carrying this compact foot-long tube can see an enemy clearly in the midnight blackness of a moonless, overcast night.

Astronomers want to see more and farther to win more knowledge of the universe, perhaps its origin and its destiny.

This is a main reason for development of the super-eye, named the Astracon. It is being perfected at the Westinghouse Research Laboratories.

"ULTIMATE"
"We think the Astracon reaches just about the ultimate in man's ability to amplify ordinary light," says A. E. Anderson, manager of the physics project department of the laboratories. "It promises to make big telescopes out of little ones."

A 20-inch telescope riding in space aboard an artificial satellite might in effect become as powerful in seeing ability as the 200-inch telescope at Mount Palomar, the world's largest telescope.

Seattle TV Weatherman Killed in Plane Crash

ELK RIVER, Ida. (UPI)—Bruce Caldwell, 29, weatherman for Seattle's KOMO-TV, and three others aboard a private plane he was piloting were killed when the plane faltered on a downwind take-off and crashed yesterday. Caldwell's wife Shirley, his six-month-old son Bradley, and a friend were killed, while his wife's sister and another friend survived.

Gap in Secrecy

Arrow Dam Double Value

By TERRY HAMMOND

Curtain of secrecy around Columbia River power talks between B.C. and Ottawa parted just long enough yesterday to bare two reasons why the province is championing the controversial High Arrow dam.

1. Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston confirmed that provincial engineers see a way to secure 275,000 horsepower of at-site energy at High Arrow near Castlegar.

2. The engineers maintain that High Arrow would guarantee maximum efficiency of Mica Creek generating facilities in the event the U.S. obtains the right to demand water release at will.

SECONDARY SOURCE
Through the use of low-head generators designed in France to produce power at low-level dams and on tidal locations, the High Arrow could become a secondary B.C. power source.

Power from High Arrow, the minister cautioned, would be intermittent and only available at certain times of the year. But some of the periods of availability would coincide with periods when power demand is at its highest.

INSERT PODS
The High Arrow generators would be contained in independent "pods," which could be inserted into previously prepared sites low down in the dam itself.

Observers point out that the feasibility of producing at-site power at a dam hitherto considered only useful for storage and control on the Columbia River complex, strengthens B.C.'s hand in negotiation with Ottawa for a final development plan.

MICA MAXIMUM
They say also that recent developments make it apparent that B.C. wants the $66,000,000 High Arrow to ensure that maximum efficiency will be derived from the generators at the $250,000,000 to $350,000,000 Mica dam.

A B.C. Hydro publication of some months ago said, "A suitable installed capacity for a generating station at Mica Creek has been estimated at 1,200,000 kilowatts, but this figure is predicated upon total utilization of water storage for our own power production."

"If storage at the dam were to be regulated for best utilization," it added.

Canada to Chile

Flour, Planes Latest Gifts

OTTAWA (CP)—A further Canadian food gift was announced Tuesday for earthquake-battered Chile — $1,000,000 worth of flour.

External Affairs Minister Green announced the gift in the Commons along with word of a new mercy role for two RCAF transports carrying medical supplies to the South American country.

At the request of the Chilean government, he said, the North Stars will remain in Chile for a time to aid in the transport of supplies from Santiago to the stricken area.

Mr. Green, who also said a second mobile field hospital will be flown to Chile by RCAF transport, said arrangements will be made as quickly as possible for shipping the flour.

Not Japanese but Deadly

Quadra Island Bombs Relic of War 'Dump'

Two bombs discovered in the murky waters off Quadra Island by skindivers this week turned out to be of British or Canadian manufacture and had probably been dumped during wartime after aerial manoeuvres, a Royal Canadian Navy spokesman said yesterday.

The bombs—one a six-pound high explosive bomb and the other a smoke bomb—were brought to Victoria by truck and were examined by Lt. Cmdr. Ben Ackerman and CPO Colin Drew.

"I had heard they might be of Japanese origin and this interested us," said Cmdr. Ackerman last night. "However they were either British or Canadian."

The bombs were found by skindivers John Groenendyk of Campbell River and Bill Peterson of Heriot Bay.

Cmdr. Ackerman said the high explosive bomb was badly corroded but the charge was still intact.

He advised people finding such bombs to leave them alone and inform the police or navy immediately.

Navy Ship Imposter, Too

Loading Dice Costs
Cheater Six Months

EDMONTON (CP)—James Olaf Anderson was sentenced Tuesday to six months for cheating in a dice game.

Magistrate F. W. Barclay convicted Anderson on a charge laid in connection with a dice game at a curling club in April.

A guest at the "smoker" had complained to a police inspector, also a guest, that Anderson was using loaded dice.

Anthropologist Says:

Teen Weddings
Menace Future

NEW YORK (UPI)—Anthropologist Margaret Mead warned yesterday that the growing trend toward teenage marriages could have serious consequences on the future of America.

(It was the second warning in two days. Yesterday the Colonist printed a story that the United Church of Canada might ban such marriages.)

Early marriage, she said in an interview, is now more prevalent in the United States than almost any area of the world.

"Early student marriage is domesticating boys so early they don't have a chance for full intellectual development," she said. "I think it's bad for women, too."

She noted that there was a "tremendous" number of broken marriages in the early age group. But parents share a good part of the blame for the trouble, she said.

Reacting to their own uncertainties stemming from wars and depressions, she said, parents in effect tell their children: "Take some enjoyment in life while you can get it. The future is totally uncertain."

Legion Hoots
At Merger
Of Drives

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A proposal to associate the Canadian Legion's annual poppy campaign with United Appeal charity drives was shouted down Tuesday by delegates to the Legion's 18th biennial convention.

Nova Scotia delegates were angered by the suggestion. The poppy symbolized sacrifice—the red feather symbolized just another campaign, they said.

They were the ones drafted as extras in the Universal International production of "The Great Impostor," film version of the exploits of Ferdinand Demara, who posed as "Dr. Cyr" in the RCN during the Korean War.

BECAME CAYUGA

But all aboard the Jonquiere—which for four days of filming became the Canadian destroyer Cayuga—enjoyed the excitement.

Star of the picture is Tony Curtis, who played Dr. Cyr. He spent hours signing autographs, and obligingly posed for innumerable still and home movie pictures with crewmen.

SWARM ABOARD

Jonquiere berthed at the U.S. Navy base in Los Angeles harbor and film crews swarmed aboard. A generator weighing two tons was planted on the quarterdeck.

The first day's shooting was done aboard the ship in harbor. The scene was Dr. Cyr's arrival aboard Cayuga. The next day was spent at sea shooting the crew of a four-inch gun in action and the crew of a Bofors gun taking up stations.

NIGHT SCENES

Gun crews from Jonquiere played themselves, as did the crew of a motor cutter and boarding party in other scenes. The final two days of filming were at sea after dark. One session lasted until 4 a.m.

Only officer to get an extra's job was Lieut. R. E. Stone, engineering officer, who was captured by film crews, told to change his uniform and take command of the boarding party during a night scene in which a junk burns into the mess fund.

LUMP SUM

His part was enlarged on the spot to include two lines—both brief commands. All those who played bit parts were picked at random. The film company paid a lump sum into the mess fund.

Lt.-Cmdr. Howard Clark, commanding officer of the Jonquiere, praised the cooperation shown by film crews. He said they were keen to have everything as authentic as possible.

Hoover:

Keep
Death
Penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said Tuesday the death penalty is a necessary deterrent to "atrocious crimes" such as murder and treason.

Hoover, writing in the FBI law enforcement bulletin, cited the Rosenberg atom spy case and the case of the youthful plane bomber Jack Graham as examples of crimes which clearly warranted the death penalty.

FEAR GONE

"To abolish the death penalty would absolve other Rosenbergs and Grahams from fear of the consequences for committing atrocious crimes," he said.

"Hoover urged thought to the question of capital punishment, which has sent a storm of controversy thundering across our nation." He apparently referred to the future over the execution of Caryl Chessman.

GREAT MANY

"A great many of the most vociferous cries for abolition of capital punishment emanate from those areas of our society which have been insulated against the horrors man can and does perpetrate against his fellow beings," Hoover said.

Doukhobor Incident?

Bombers Strike
'Persecuted' Mill

NELSON (CP)—A Kootenay businessman, persecuted by bombers and arsonists in the last 15 years, had another blow Monday.

George Goloff's lumber mill at nearby Brilliant was shaken in a pre-dawn dynamite explosion. The incident wasn't reported until Tuesday.

Damage was not severe. Mr. Goloff connected the blast with the arrival in the Kootenays of Anna Markova, granddaughter of Peter (the Lordy) Verigin, who led the Doukhobors to Canada from Russia in 1899.

Mrs. Markova arrived in British Columbia from Russia last week to retire to a quiet valley with her son John J. Verigin of Grand Forks.

Mr. Goloff said the latest bombing was a demonstration timed to coincide with the arrival of Mrs. Markova. He said he knew of no other reason why he should be attacked.

Dynamite blasts in the Kootenays in past years have often been blamed on the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect.

Bystanders

CALGARY (CP)—Lifeguard Kent Border's use of mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration, suggested by bystanders, Tuesday saved the life of eight-year-old Barbara Simpson, who fell into the Glenoe Club swimming pool.

Fire department spokesmen said Border's application of "conventional" respiration was unsuccessful until someone suggested the mouth-to-mouth method.

This brought immediate results and the girl was revived.

FEARS OF CRASH RISE
IN ISLAND AIR SEARCHBrother Gives Up Hope
Of Finding Plane Intact

By TERRY HAMMOND

A plane unreported since last Sunday with two city businessmen aboard is believed to have crashed.

What started early yesterday as a routine check of Island lakes for a Seabee amphibian believed grounded by bad weather changed by afternoon to an intensive, all-out search for signs of tragedy.

PARTNERS

Missing are pilot Cecil Rhodes, 2628 Eastdowne, and his business partner, Cecil Rawlings, 75 Cook, owners of C & C Taxi Ltd. The two left Patricia Bay Airport on Sunday for a one-day fishing trip intended to take them 70 miles west of Victoria to Nitinat Lake.

TOOK OFF

They were last seen taking off from the lake about 1 p.m. Sunday. Until about noon yesterday it was thought they had been held down by poor weather conditions which closed in on Sunday.

But improved weather yesterday and a sweep of all likely lakes shortly after daylight, cast a pall of gloom over the search.

BROTHER HELPS

Arthur E. Rhodes, 3510 Richmond, brother of the missing pilot, joined searchers yesterday in a "Victoria Flying Services" plane piloted by Bill Cove. He said at day's end he had given up hope the Seabee would be found intact.

He believed that when his brother left Nitinat Lake he would have done one of two things if he had not simply returned to Victoria.

LOOK AT BOATS

"He might have gone for a look at the boats in the Swiftsure race or he would have flown up to see us at Genoa Bay," he told the Colonist last night.

"If he had been heading up to the bay he would have flown up the San Juan Valley. I think he's either in the Strait of Juan de Fuca or in that valley."

FLYING 15 YEARS

He said his brother had been flying at intervals for more than 15 years.

He purchased the Seabee amphibian last fall and had it completely overhauled and partly rebuilt. The aircraft was equipped with full radio complement and carried a flare signal pistol.

SEVEN PLANES

A total of five RCAF search and rescue planes and two from Victoria Flying Services combed the lower half of Vancouver Island yesterday and the search will continue today.

A search and rescue official said that observers were now looking for evidence of a crash. "It had been down on a lake or along the coast we would have spotted him today," he said.

WEATHER GOOD

RCAF searchmaster Flt. Lt. J. E. Errington of Vancouver said weather over the search area yesterday was excellent. He said more search planes would take to the air at daylight today to cover areas not fully checked yesterday.

The aircraft returned from yesterday's search as darkness fell over the Island.

LONGTIME RESIDENTS

The two men are both married and both have two children. Mr. Rhodes is the father of a daughter, 22, and a son, 16. Mr. Rawlings has two daughters, 21 and 16.

Both have been longtime residents of Victoria, Mr. Rhodes since 1922.

Wilderness
Forbidding, Frightening

By TED HARRIS

For three hours yesterday I joined air searchers looking for a trace of the Seabee amphibian which took two city businessmen on a fishing trip Sunday and then vanished.

Combing the shores of lakes, the deep river canyons and portions of the forbidding west coast for some signs of the missing plane I saw this Vancouver Island in a new light—a frightening light. For it is an island of wilderness as well as one of civilization.

Flying with Victoria Flying Services pilot Bill Cove, we combed the San Juan Valley along a course which missing pilot Cecil Rhodes and his business partner Cecil Rawlings might have taken in an attempted return to Victoria or a flight to Cowichan Bay.

We examined an old slick in Cowichan Bay and we scanned lake and hillside, valley and mountain.

We circled down to 50 feet to examine a silvery object along a lakeshore, only to find it was a sun-bleached log.

As you try to sweep every square foot of ground beneath you, your eyes ache and for the first time you realize the difficulty and the uncertainty of an air search—a difficulty compounded by terrain which would conceal the remains of an aircraft perhaps only 10 miles from the centre of downtown Victoria.

Two More Polio Victims in Hospital

Two new cases of polio, the year's sixth and seventh, are in "satisfactory condition" in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

At the same time, adults were given a schedule for the second in a series of polio shots at city clinics.

One of the new cases is a Victorian, Mrs. Olive Wilson of 3161 Orilla. The other is six-year-old Dennis Frykas of Port Alberni.

Both patients were brought to the hospital during the weekend, and neither is confined to a respirator.

Second doses of Salk anti-polio vaccine for Victoria and Esquimalt adults who had first doses in May will be given at four clinics in the next two weeks.

The second doses will be given, the health department announced yesterday, at the Esquimalt municipal hall June 3 from 1.30 to 3.30 p.m., at 1947 Cook June 8 from 1 to 7, at Fairfield United Church June 10 from 1.30 to 3.30 and in the Royal Jubilee Hospital lecture room June 14 from 1.30 to 3.30.

Cougar Seen at Colwood But Dogs Find No Trace

The second cougar sighting in less than a week near Victoria has been reported to Colwood RCMP.

Three unidentified men claimed they saw a cougar leave Goldstream Avenue and disappear into the darkness at Royal Colwood golf course.

RCMP, the game warden and veteran cougar hunter Jim Paton with his two cougar hounds combed the golf course within half an hour of the sighting but were unable to pick up any trace of a cat.

A cougar was seen nearby Friday in the Thetis Lake area, but it did not attack any livestock.

Around the Island

Valley Jittery Over Log Jam

WEST HOLME — A government survey has been completed here on a "spectacular" 40-foot high, 500 foot long log jam that, if breached, could leave the valley under a foot and a half of water.

Westholme Ratepayers Association will now ask for a copy of the survey, Tom Groves, secretary of the association, said yesterday.

The survey was done at the request of the community here through the association which believes if it ever gave way someone would be killed.

"The valley at the top is only 1,500 feet wide," said Mr. Groves. "If the logs broke loose at a peak flood season it would be extremely lucky if someone is not drowned." The huge pile of logs is about eight miles from the Trans-Canada Highway and the valley. It is in Copper Canyon and blocks off the Chemainus River.

Other Island News

"It is a spectacular jam that is, we feel, so dangerous it definitely needs to be removed," he said. The survey was done, said Mr. Groves, by the water rights branch.

The association will ask for a copy of the survey because residents feel the mountain of logs will come loose "sooner or later."

CAMBELL RIVER — Lake after being picked up in Nanaimo in connection with a car theft in Port Alberni.

Alberni detachment RCMP found a car ditched and abandoned on Alberni Highway. Investigations showed that the car was the property of a Wellko Taulu and it had been parked in front of his house at 615 Sixth Avenue North, Port Alberni.

VANANDA (CP) — Albert Matson, 45, of this Texada Island community, died Monday when hit by a falling log. He was an employee of the Jones Logging Co.

Third Seek Merger

LADYSMITH — One-third of a required number of signatures have been obtained on petitions here in an amalgamation move that could nearly double the population of the village.

It would almost give the village a "city" status and make it the largest between Victoria and Nanaimo with a population of over 4,000 residents.

Up to the weekend there were 100 names given in favor, said Stan Heya, president of the Ladysmith Chamber of Commerce which is heading the movement to amalgamate Ladysmith and surrounding areas.

"We don't doubt that it will be successful," he said last night. "It will be given to the village commission which will call for a plebiscite among property owners inside the present boundaries."

If approved the commissioner could gain more revenue by extending fire protection and water facilities.

"It will give the people in the two areas a greater voice in what happens to their tax dollar too," said Mr. Heya. "Now the money goes to Victoria and they don't have a voice, other than their member of the legislature."

He was asked if there might be a taxation drop for the area inside the boundaries of the village now.

"That is hard to say. As far as we can tell there's no increase, but it is anybody's guess if it will drop," he said.

Victoria Man Fined

DUNCAN — A Victoria soft drinks truck operator was fined in court yesterday for supplying liquor to a 15-year-old girl in an auto court.

"I figured she was plenty old enough," said James E. Bouch after he pleaded guilty. Fine was $50.

Magistrate A. C. Sutton said there was "no excuse" for it but didn't impose the maximum of $300 fine after consulting with a probation officer. They concluded that the girl was partly to blame. She was not named.

Also in court, James L. Clarke, 21, of Duncan, was fined $25 yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving on May 23 on Herd Road when his sports car slipped through a telephone pole after leaving the road.

Date of trial to hear the case of George Highmore, Cowichan Bay, who was charged with careless driving, will be set June 30. A third remand was granted yesterday because Mrs. Highmore is still in hospital two months after the accident south of Duncan on the Trans-Canada Highway.

Richard H. Lonsdale of Vancouver was fined $10 for speeding on the highway May 9.

Young Show Way

PORT ALBERNI — Children of the Alberni Valley are showing the way in interesting themselves in the senior citizens' homes. Mrs. Pearl Corbett, president of the OAP, said at the annual meeting of Alberni Valley Memorial Homes Society.

She told of a group of CGIT members who cleaned windows, inside and out, for the tenants. Brownies had brought flowers to the homes.

She also told of a poultry farmer who occasionally brought in several dozen eggs, and of other donations which had been appreciated by the tenants trying to get along on low fixed incomes.

She said that the people living in the suites were pleased and happy with their homes.

Dullest Since 1915

Cold Comfort: Our Weather Wasn't Worst

Tourist officials will be happy to learn that, as usual, Victoria had better weather than Vancouver during the past month.

But neither city really has anything to boast about this time. Vancouver had the dullest May on record while Victoria's May was only the second dullest on record.

The dullest May here was in 1915, when there were only 180.5 hours of sunshine. This year, there were 203.4 hours; the normal, set by 46 years of records, is 275.1 hours.

Prospects of a sunny year were shattered. The area was 2.8 hours ahead of normal yearly sunshine total at the first of May and 69.9 hours behind normal by the end of the month. Total sunshine for the year is now 733.9 hours.

May was also wetter than in past years. During 16 days of recorded rainfall there were 1.26 inches. Normally there are nine days in which .93 inch is recorded. Total for the year is 12.46 inches, 1.03 inches more than normal.

Highest temperature of the month was 71.2 on May 9 and lowest was 42.4 on May 21. Average temperature was 52.5, as compared to a normal of 53.8.

Solarium Needs Volunteers

The Solarium Junior League is seeking volunteer canvassers for its one-night residential canvass starting at 6.30 p.m. today. Anyone wishing to help, or those missed by canvassers this evening, may call the Solarium office, EV 4-9901.

VIP Trip to Victoria Ferry Run's Kickoff

Victoria will be host to 100 selected magazine writers, newspapermen and travel counsellors from all parts of North America next week as a special kickoff to the start of the provincial government's new Vancouver Island-mainland ferry service.

A detailed program has been drawn up by the B.C. Toll Authority ferry system to show the important visitors the scenic highlights of Vancouver and Victoria as well as the new ferries.

The visitors will gather in Vancouver June 3, spend the day in the mainland city as guests of hotel, motel and tourist officials, and journey to Sidney the next morning aboard Mv. Tsawwassen.

While in Victoria they will be guests of Victoria local, Auto Courts and Resorts Association.

Program here includes a buffet luncheon at the Empress Hotel, staged by the city of Victoria; a tour of the city by bus, a reception by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and a provincial government-sponsored dinner at the Empress Hotel that night.

Next day, June 10, guests will visit Butchart Gardens before leaving aboard the Tsawwassen back to the mainland.

Ferries will begin their regular service June 15.

QUOTE A HAND

"She's quite a hand with that trowel!" remarked someone in the audience gathered at 941 Pandora for the ceremony.

Mrs. Ross was greeted by Senator S. S. McKeen, provincial president of St. John Ambulance, and thanked by J. J.

Carson, retiring provincial commissioner, who remarked that this cornerstone laying for the service's first substantial building in the province would be a happy moment for all its friends.

Lighting Tenders Sought

To see if money could be saved, city council public works committee will call for tenders from electrical contractors on maintenance and operation of Victoria's street-lighting.

And separately, the committee decided yesterday, bids will be sought on cleaning of the cluster-light globes, a job now performed by city electricians.

COSTLY WIPERS

"Why it has to be highly-paid electricians who clean the bulbs I don't know," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgell, but City Manager C. C. Wyatt noted that it was a way of keeping electricians busy in slack periods.

In other action, the committee:

● Authorized use of signs with a large "P" and arrow to direct traffic to city parking lot entrances, but decided to seek the opinion of the retail merchants' group of the chamber of commerce on using the signs for privately-owned parking lots with more than 100 spaces. Purpose of the signs is to prevent traffic snarls.

● Accepted the only paving bid received, which to the aldermen's expressed amazement was five cents a ton lower than last year's.

● Was informed by City Engineer James Garnett that plans for Fountain Circle—requested by an oil company so that it can prepare to rebuild a station there—"are all tied up with the one-way street plan we are working on, and as soon as we have something we feel is as foolproof as possible, we will come to the committee with it."

Phone Staffs To Get Pay Boosts

A three-stage, two-year wage agreement was reached yesterday between the B.C. Telephone Co. and its 6,000 employees in the province.

The agreement with the Federation of Telephone Workers of B.C., a company spokesman said, provides for a three-per-cent increase retroactive to April 1, a three-per-cent increase effective Dec. 1, 1960, and a two-per-cent increase effective Aug. 1, 1961.

Dock Worker Injures Leg

Roy Hutchisson, 42, of 1570 Mortimer, stevedore employed by Empire Stevedore Co. at Ogden Point docks, received abrasions to the right leg about 1.45 p.m. yesterday when struck by a hatch beam while unloading a Greek freighter. City police took him to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was treated and discharged.

Red Cross Collecting Here For Aid to Battered Chile

Canadian Red Cross in Victoria has started collecting funds to help alleviate the suffering of thousands who were injured and made homeless by the devastating series of earthquakes in Chile during the past few weeks.

Two Victoria residents have so far donated a total of $40, and others have pledged more. Cheques should be made out to the "Canadian Red Cross Chilean Disaster Fund" and sent to the Victoria headquarters, 1046 Fort.

Clothes are not wanted, as the society here does not have the facilities to pack and dispatch apparel.

Uchucks Find New Runs

PORT ALBERNI — Barkley Sound Transportation Ltd. will close its Port Alberni-based service June 10, with its ships already committed to pioneer in other Island waters.

For 14 years the firm, headed by Capt. H. Essen Young, president, and Capt. George B. McCandless, has operated the Uchuck motor vessels in passenger and freight runs to Ucluelet, Bamfield and other points in Barkley Sound.

ACCESS ROAD

Opening of an access road to Sarita River operations of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. eliminated one of the most important points of call on the south shore, while the new Alberni-Tofino highway, opened last September, had reduced passenger business to the Ucluelet-Tofino area to a minimum. A scheduled trucking service was inaugurated in May and the partners saw the end of the need to carry on what had been an essential service since 1946.

CAMPAIGN

The village of Bamfield is still without road connection with the rest of the Island, but residents have been carrying on a campaign for road construction to tie in with Sarita River Road.

The transportation company placed the Uchuck II in operation in Nootka Sound on March 18 of this year, providing a scheduled service between many isolated points on the west coast.

CHARTERED

The Uchuck III of the fleet has been chartered to Murray Marine Services to start the run from Kelsey Bay to Soledad and waypoints June 19. It will replace the Mv. Lady Rose in service in that area.

Clock Turns Its Tolling To Toilers

DUNCAN — The clock atop the old federal building will soon be serving a different purpose.

For more than 40 years the bells reminded residents to keep up with their letter writing or to pick up their mail, because the post office was below.

Now the clock will toll to remind the unemployed that it is time to pick up their unemployment benefit cheque.

The national Employment Service will move into the old post office quarters sometime later this year.

Board Setup Backed

DUNCAN — A new system of electing some directors to the board of King's Daughters' Hospital has been approved by the board.

"The change is felt to be an absolute necessity in view of the fact that the new hospital will be built and financed by all four areas concerned," said hospital administrator Ken Noton.

The old method of election through membership in the Cowichan Hospital Association, which owns the hospital, has been criticized by the South Cowichan Taxpayers' Association.

The new system would be to have one member appointed to the board from each of the four districts and four members elected by the association at the annual meeting.

"Those elected members must represent all four areas," says Mr. Noton. "In other words, of the elected members, one must be from Lake Cowichan, one from Koksilah Hospital District, and one each from the city and municipality."

Besides the eight, there

Phoebe Not Fussy, Fang Was at Fault

DUNCAN — Phoebe, the faint-hearted python, has ended her hunger strike with an eating orgy.

The cuddlesome, 14-foot snake went without eating for just over five months, believes her owner, because she had a too'hache.

Jim Oyen found it out just recently, and knocked off the half-inch-long tooth that was dangling from her lower lip with a long, long stick.

"Boy, we were relieved," said Mr. Oyen. "Up until then she was growing rapidly, and she is worth her weight in gold."

He had contemplated, with much distaste, a method of force-feeding. The thought of ramming food down the lithe, 60-pound creature's jaws was a little unnerving.

Mr. Oyen asked that we make Phoebe's condition known to her many friends who, through the Colonist, protested vehemently at her being fed live chickens.

After the tooth was removed, she gobbled down four, young — and dead, he stressed — rabbits. Phoebe evidently liked the meal.

Alberni Valley Homes

'Second to None' For Senior Citizens

PORT ALBERNI — The first full year of operation of Port Alberni senior citizens' homes showed a surplus of $251, the 28 units all occupied and a waiting list of seven tenants, according to reports at the annual meeting of Alberni Valley Memorial Home Society.

President William Beckingham resigned from the directorate after five years' service. In his report he stated that he felt the results of years of planning had been a success and that the project was, in his opinion, second to none among its kind in North America.

The society is still continuing to subsidize electric heat and light expenses on the project and, in spite of the small rental surplus this year and the savings of some $800 a year which will follow the B.C. government's action in exempting such projects from municipal taxes, it is not likely that rentals will be reduced this year, Mr. Beckingham said.

mur, Foresters; Mrs. C. C. Stevens, Canadian Daughters; Robert Kronlund, Scandinavian Club; Stan Lance, IWA. C. J. Harmon, Canadian Legion, has another year to serve on the board.

Not Japanese but Deadly

Quadra Island Bombs Relic of War 'Dump'

Two bombs discovered in the murky waters off Quadra Island by skindivers this week turned out to be of British or Canadian manufacture and had probably been dumped during wartime after aerial manoeuvres, a Royal Canadian Navy spokesman said yesterday.

The bombs—one a six-pound high explosive bomb and the other a smoke bomb—were brought to Victoria by truck and were examined by Lt. Cmdr. Ben Ackerman and CPO Colin Drew.

"I had heard they might be of Japanese origin and this interested us," said Cmdr. Ackerman last night. "However they were either British or Canadian."

The bombs were found by skindivers John Groenendyk of Campbell River and Bill Peterson of Heriot Bay.

Cmdr. Ackerman said the high explosive bomb was badly corroded but the charge was still intact.

He advised people finding such bombs to leave them alone and inform the police or navy immediately.

New Citizens Told

One of Six in Canada Left Former Land

ALBERNI — One of every six Canadians was born in another country, Mrs. E. W. Adams, president of the Alberni Valley Citizenship Council, told 18 persons who received their Canadian citizenship in ceremonies conducted by Judge L. A. Hanna in county court Monday.

Mrs. Adams told of the objectives of the organization and of the desire of its members to assist in helping newcomers to the country in their efforts toward integration.

Mrs. J. Horner of the Canadian Club and Stan Fridfinsson, Branch 55, Canadian Legion, joined in welcoming the members of the group into citizenship.

Those renouncing the citizenship to their countries of origin and swearing allegiance to the Queen were: David Joseph Poll, Giovanni Crema, Cornelius de Wall, Johannes Oosterom, Mrs. Jannigje Oosterom, Erich Katzberg, Paul Gombita, Thomas Kloess, Mrs. Hildegard Kloess, John Waller Celinski, Karl Heinz Breidenbach, Arle den Toom, Mrs. Neeltje den Toom, Johannes Schievink, Mrs. Tryntje Schievink, Giuseppe Paul Uzzl, Ernst Mayr and Erika Margarete Mayr.

Loading Dice Costs Cheater Six Months

EDMONTON (CP)—James Olaf Anderson was sentenced Tuesday to six months for cheating in a dice game.

Magistrate F. W. Barclay convicted Anderson on a charge laid in connection with a dice game at a curling club in April.

A guest at the "smoker" had complained to a police inspector, also a guest, that Anderson was using loaded dice.

Anthropologist Says:

Teen Weddings Menace Future

NEW YORK (UPI)—Anthropologist Margaret Mead warned yesterday that the growing trend toward teenage marriages could have serious consequences on the future of America.

(It was the second warning in two days. Yesterday the Colonist printed a story that the United Church of Canada might ban such marriages.)

Early marriage, she said in an interview, is now more prevalent in the United States than almost any area of the world.

"Early student marriage is domesticating boys so early they don't have a chance for full intellectual development," she said. "I think it's bad for women, too."

She noted that there was a "tremendous" number of broken marriages in the early age group. But parents share a good part of the blame for the trouble, she said. Reacting to their own uncertainties stemming from wars and depressions, she said, parents in effect tell their children: "Take some enjoyment in life while you can get it. The future is totally uncertain."

Legion Hoots At Merger Of Drives

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A proposal to associate the Canadian Legion's annual poppy campaign with United Appeal charity drives was shouted down Tuesday by delegates to the Legion's 18th biennial convention.

Nova Scotia delegates were angered by the suggestion. The poppy symbolized sacrifice—the red feather symbolized just another campaign, they said.

They were the ones drafted as extras in the Universal International production of "The Great Impostor," film version of the exploits of Ferdinand Demara, who posed as "Dr. Cyr" in the RCN during the Korean War.

BECAME CAYUGA

But all aboard the Jonquiere—which for four days of filming became the Canadian destroyer Cayuga—enjoyed the excitement.

Star of the picture is Tony Curtis, who played Dr. Cyr. He spent hours signing autographs, and obligingly posed for many still and home movie pictures with crewmen.

SWARM ABOARD

Jonquiere berthed at the U.S. Navy base in Los Angeles harbor and film crews swarmed aboard. A generator weighing two tons was planted on the quarterdeck.

The first day's shooting was done aboard the ship in harbor. The scene was Dr. Cyr's arrival aboard Cayuga. The next day was spent at sea shooting the crew of a four-inch gun in action and the crew of a Bofors gun taking up stations.

NIGHT SCENES

Gun crews from Jonquiere played themselves, as did the crew of a motor cutter and boarding party in other scenes. The final two days of filming were at sea after dark. One session lasted until 4 a.m. Only officer to get an extra's job was Lieut. R. E. Stone, engineering officer, who was captured by film crews, told to change his uniform and take command of the boarding party during a night scene in which a junk brings wounded Koreans alongside.

LUMP SUM

His part was enlarged on the spot to include two lines—both brief commands. All those who played bit parts were picked at random. The film company paid a lump sum into the mess fund.

Lt.-Cmdr. Howard Clark, commanding officer of the Jonquiere, praised the cooperation shown by film crews. He said they were keen to have everything as authentic as possible.

CRASH 'CERTAIN' BROTHER THINKS

Hoover:

Keep Death Penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said Tuesday the death penalty is a necessary deterrent to "atrocious crimes" such as murder and treason.

Hoover, writing in the FBI law enforcement bulletin, cited the Rosenberg atom spy case and the case of the youthful plane bomber Jack Graham as examples of crimes which clearly warranted the death penalty.

FEAR GONE

"To abolish the death penalty would absolve other Rosenbergs and Grahams from fear of the consequences for committing atrocious crimes," he said.

Hoover urged thought to the question of capital punishment, which "has sent a storm of controversy thundering across our nation." He apparently referred to the furor over the execution of Caryl Chessman.

GREAT MANY

"A great many of the most vociferous cries for abolition of capital punishment emanate from those areas of our society which have been insulated against the horrors man can and does perpetrate against his fellow beings," Hoover said.

Doukhobor Incident?

Bombers Strike 'Persecuted' Mill

NELSON (CP)—A Kootenay businessman, persecuted by bombers and arsonists in the last 15 years, had another blow Monday.

George Goloff's lumber mill at nearby Brilliant was shaken in a pre-dawn dynamite explosion. The incident wasn't reported until Tuesday.

Damage was not severe. Mr. Goloff connected the blast with the arrival in the Kootenays of Anna Markova, granddaughter of Peter (the Lordy) Verigin, who led the Doukhobors to Canada from Russia in 1899.

Mrs. Markova arrived in British Columbia from Russia last week to retire to a quiet valley with her son John J. Verigin of Grand Forks.

Mr. Goloff said the latest bombing was a demonstration timed to coincide with the arrival of Mrs. Markova. He said he knew of no other reason why he should be attacked.

Dynamite blasts in the Kootenays in past years have often been blamed on the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect.

Goloff's mill was closed last year after a long-standing labor dispute. He estimated it would cost $7,500 to replace.

Bystanders Save Child

CALGARY (CP)—Lifeguard Kent Border's use of mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration, suggested by bystanders, Tuesday saved the life of eight-year-old Barbara Simpson, who fell into the Glencoe Club swimming pool.

Fire department spokesman said Border's application of "conventional" respiration was unsuccessful until someone suggested the mouth-to-mouth method.

Ontario Town Puts Gina on the Map

Victorians' Plane Eludes Searchers

By TERRY HAMMOND

A plane unreported since last Sunday with two city businessmen aboard is believed to have crashed.

What started early yesterday as a routine check of Island lakes for a Seabee amphibian believed grounded by bad weather changed by afternoon to an intensive, all-out search for signs of tragedy.

PARTNERS

Missing are pilot Cecil Rhodes, 2628 Eastdowne, and his business partner, Cecil Rawlings, 75 Cook, owners of C & C Taxi Ltd.

The two left Patricia Bay Airport on Sunday for a one-day fishing trip intended to take them 70 miles west of Victoria to Nitinat Lake.

TOOK OFF

They were last seen taking off from the lake about 1 p.m. Sunday.

Until about noon yesterday it was thought they had been held down by poor weather conditions which closed in on Sunday.

But improved weather yesterday and a sweep of all likely lakes shortly after daylight, cast a pall of gloom over the search.

BROTHER HELPS

Arthur E. Rhodes, 3510 Richmond, brother of the missing pilot, joined searchers yesterday in a Victoria Flying Services plane piloted by Bill Cove.

He said at day's end he had given up hope the Seabee would be found intact.

He believed that when his brother left Nitinat Lake he would have done one of two things if he had not simply returned to Victoria.

LOOK AT BOATS

"He might have gone for a look at the boats in the Swiftsure race or he would have flown up to see us at Genoa Bay," he told the Colonist last night.

"If he had been heading up to the bay he would have flown up to the San Juan Valley. "I think he's either in the Strait of Juan de Fuca or in that valley."

FLYING 15 YEARS

He said his brother had been flying at intervals for more than 15 years.

He purchased the Seabee amphibian last fall and had it completely overhauled and a partly rebuilt.

The aircraft was equipped with full radio complement and carried a flare signal pistol.

SEVEN PLANES

A total of five RCAF search and rescue planes and two from Victoria Flying Services combed the lower half of Vancouver Island yesterday and the search will continue today.

A search and rescue official said that observers were now looking for evidence of a crash.

"If he'd been down on a lake or along the coast we would have spotted him today," he said.

WEATHER GOOD

RCAF searchmaster Flt. Lt. J. E. Errington of Vancouver, said weather over the search area yesterday was excellent. He said more search planes would take to the air at daylight today to cover areas not fully checked yesterday.

The aircraft returned from yesterday's search as darkness fell over the Island.

LONGTIME RESIDENTS

The two men are both married and both have two children. Mr. Rhodes is the father of a daughter, 22, and a son, 16. Mr. Rawlings has two daughters, 21 and 16.

Both have been longtime residents of Victoria, Mr. Rhodes since 1922.

Peaks, Canyons

Wilderness Forbidding, Frightening

By TED HARRIS

For three hours yesterday I joined air searchers looking for a trace of the Seabee amphibian which took two city businessmen on a fishing trip Sunday and then vanished.

Combing the shores of lakes, the deep river canyons and portions of the forbidding west coast for some signs of the missing plane I saw this Vancouver Island in a new light—a frightening light.

For it is an island of wilderness as well as one of civilization.

It is an island where a soaring peak can reach up into low cloud to pluck an aircraft from the sky, where the stately Douglas firs can hide a man trying to wave for help, where the unruffled waters of dozens of small lakes can hide a tragedy.

Flying with Victoria Flying Services pilot Bill Cove, I combed the San Juan Valley along a course which missing pilot Cecil Rhodes and his business partner Cecil Rawlings might have taken in an attempted return to Victoria or a flight to Cowichan Bay.

We examined an oil slick in Cowichan Bay and we scanned lake and hillside, valley and mountain.

We circled down to 50 feet to examine a silvery object along a lakeshore, only to find it was a sun-bleached log.

As you try to sweep every square foot of ground beneath you, your eyes ache and for the first time you realize the difficulty and the uncertainty of an air search—a difficulty compounded by terrain which would conceal the remains of an aircraft perhaps only 10 miles from the centre of downtown Victoria.
